Modelica is an object-oriented, declarative, multi-domain modeling language for component-oriented modeling of complex systems, e.g., systems containing mechanical, electrical, electronic, hydraulic, thermal, control, electric power or process-oriented subcomponents. The free Modelica language is developed by the non-profit Modelica Association. The Modelica Association also develops the free ...

Deterministic modeling process is presented in the context of linear programs (LP). LP models are easy to solve computationally and have a wide range of applications in diverse fields. This site provides solution algorithms and the needed sensitivity analysis since the solution to a practical problem is not complete with the mere determination of the optimal solution.

An entity–relationship model (ER model for short) describes interrelated things of interest in a specific domain of knowledge. A basic ER model is composed of entity types (which classify the things of interest) and specifies relationships that can exist between entities (instances of those entity types).
